GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

In all his years on the turf J. W. Schorr has never been so impressed with the yearlings in his collection as he is at the present time. He has twenty-seven youngsters, twenty-five of which are quartered at Montgomery Park, and he says that, taken collectively, they are the grandest looking lot he has ever owned. Before going to New Orleans for the opening of the present meeting he gave George Walker, his trainer, instructions to weed out the bunch which had been left in his charge. On his return to Memphis he found that his orders had not been complied with. Mr. Walker said he simply could not make up his mind where to begin the weeding-out process. It was finally decided to turn out five of them for a time—two colts by Handsome, one by Dr. Rice, one by Onondaga and a filly. One of the Handsome colts had shown a quarter of a mile, over the Louisville track before going to Memphis, in 25 seconds with 130 pounds up.

Speaking of Kinloch, a report was current recently that J. D. Lucas, present presiding officer of the corporation which controls the track, was dissatisfied with the dates assigned the course by the Western Jockey Club. This Mr. Lucas denies. "I asked for thirty days straight," said Mr. Lucas, "and was willing to accept any dates between the first of May and the first of October. Instead they gave me fifteen days in the spring and a like number in the fall. While I did not think I was asking too much, and would have been pleased had my request been granted, I am not what you could call dissatisfied. I will expend $30,000 in improving my track the coming season, and before I get through Kinloch is bound to command more recognition from the Jockey Club than it has heretofore been given."

Jockey Buchanan has taken exception to the statements said to have been made by Durnell & Herz about his apathy in the saddle. He has made out a statement which he has presented to the stewards. It is as follows:

"To the Stewards of the Crescent City Jockey Club—Gentlemen: By inference and insinuation Mr. E. Herz, of the firm of Durnell & Herz, has cast a reflection upon me as a race rider. His charges have been published in the New Orleans newspapers and telegraphed to other papers throughout the country. Without making a direct statement he has left an opening for the inference that I was riding the horses owned by himself and his partner purposely to lose. The specific charges mentioned were those of Potheen, The Lady and Rolling Boer. In the cases of Potheen and The Lady I wish to solemnly declare that I obeyed instructions literally. In the case of Rolling Boer I felt constrained to use my own judgment, always thinking that the purpose of the stable was to win.

"I rode Rolling Boer several times before he became the property of Durnell & Herz, and had acquired a knowledge of what he needed. Had I dropped him in behind the leaders on the path as per instructions, I would not have had a chance. Instead, I cut the corners and tried to get to the front, where Rolling Boer wants to run. I was not successful in heading off the leader, and Rolling Boer sulked under me.

"From the five-furlong pole to under the judges' stand I had him under punishment.

"On the night of December 13 Mr. Herz came to me and told me that if I wished to avoid embarrassing questions I had better leave at once for my home in San Francisco. I told him that no question that the stewards might ask could possibly embarrass me, and that I intended to remain in New Orleans.

"I respectfully request you to ask Mr. Herz to substantiate his charges against me. If he can do so, I am willing to accept any penalty your honorable body may be pleased to inflict. If he cannot, I think he should be given the punishment that would otherwise be given to me."

The career of W. Hicks as a jockey probably came to an end Tuesday. Suspicious looking rides on War Cry, Kiss Quick and Moabina led to his suspension pending investigation. Hatfield & Ownbey, who own Moabina and manage Hicks, were also suspended. The case is still under investigation and before the stewards finish several parties are likely to be implicated.

Hicks had a brilliant career before him. His work in the saddle at the beginning of the meeting attracted considerable attention. Outside of Gannon he ranked as the best apprentice riding there. He had a large following among the horsemen, and this enabled him to get many good mounts.

All went well for a time and the boy rode many winners. Then came a change in Hicks' riding. He was not as alert as usual and his handling of several heavily backed horses looked suspicious. These rides caused considerable talk, but Hicks was given the benefit of the doubt owing to the condition of the track. But last Tuesday Hicks' finish came.

He had the mounts on War Cry, Mathilde, Kiss Quick and Moabina. All were heavily backed, and on form they looked to hold their fields safe. All were favorites in the opening betting, all were well played by the public, and with each there was a disposition, according to reports, to take liberties by certain layers. One book especially took liberties with the horses which Hicks rode. The book in question generally deals on a small scale. On Latson, which Hicks rode a few days before, and on Moabina, Tuesday, they made the biggest book in the ring. They could not get in enough money on these two. They let nothing escape them, and the stronger the play the bigger price they quoted.

On War Cry Hicks' exhibition would have been discreditable to an amateur. The horse had an outside position at the post, and on form he looked the best thing of the day. The owners' instruction to Hicks as the horse left the paddock was "get to the path as quick as you can and come along about your business." When the start came Hicks, instead of getting the path, pulled up. The horse trailed along in seventh place, and remained there until well in the final furlong. When Hicks shook him up he closed fast, and finally landed in fifth place.

The New Orleans Picayune of last Monday has this to say of the bad condition of the track there: "Were it not for the wretched condition of the track at the Fair Grounds, the Crescent City Jockey Club could well be congratulated upon the success of the present meeting. With twenty-five books drawing in on Saturday the high-water mark was reached. The crowds, too, are larger than ever before. The many improvements at the course have been appreciated by the patrons of racing. The grandstand gives satisfaction, the paddock is a decided improvement over the old one, and the betting inclosure even exceeded expectations. One feature has proved a disappointment, however, and that is the track. Reports were sent out from here a month or two before the meeting opened that great improvements had been made to the track proper. It was said that a couple of pits of excellent sand had been discovered close by the course, and that a top dressing of this sand had been put on the track. These stories led one to believe that a remedy had at last been found to keep the track in some kind of respectable shape during wet weather. Last winter there was but little complaint. The track was in better shape than it had been in years, and, with the reported improvement, one was led to believe that it at last ranked with any in the country. It looked all right the first few days. When the rains came up, however, there was another tale to tell. The track got deep and holding, and it has never been in good shape since. There has been a lot of complaint, both from the horsemen and the public. The horsemen have to face the difficult problem of keeping their horses fit without working them, while the public find form about as misleading as it is likely to prove at John Ryan's outlaw game at Newport.

"While the track remains in its present shape it means bad racing. This is a pity, too, as there are any number of good horses here, standing in their stalls, waiting a chance to run. Owners do not care to tear a good horse to pieces racing him over a track that is slippery and sticky one day, deep and holding another and finally lumpy and heavy. The management has meant well and there is no intention of knocking when one says that a botch was made of things in fixing up the track last summer. What is needed is a practical engineer, one who understands the business of overcoming just such difficulties as face Mr. Bush and his conferees in this case. It is too late now to remedy matters and the horsemen will have to make the best of it for this winter. There is another year, however, and it is to be hoped that before the opening of the next meeting rolls around something will be done to give a better track."

Peter Duryea, of the eastern racing firm of Whitney & Duryea; T. Hitchcock, Jr., one of the east's most prominent polo players; John E. Madden, the Lexington turfman, and several other men interested in horses visited Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., last Monday.

Mr. Duryea is on the lookout for good youngsters to add to his racing stable, and is at Louisville to inspect Madden's fine string of two-year-olds which are quartered at Churchill Downs. Of the string of forty which he looked over he liked best the get of Mr. Madden's fine young sire, Mirthful. He also liked several fillies by Candelmas, probably because he owns the great colt, Irish Lad, and Irish Lad is by Candelmas. Whether Mr. Duryea made any purchases from the Madden string is not known, as neither he nor Mr. Madden would admit this rumor. Mr. Duryea left for Memphis Tuesday. He will inspect the youngsters at Cumberland Park, Nashville, and also at Belle Meade. He says that he will probably go to New Orleans before he returns east.

BOOKMAKERS RULED OFF.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 17.—The stewards of the local club today rendered the following report and rulings: "After a thorough investigation of the methods of the firm of Stitzel & Grefer, who have been doing a business of bookmaking under the title of The Iowa Club, we suggest that said Stitzel and F. J. Grefer be ruled off the turf.

"We further suggest that the suspension of Hatfield & Ownbey and of jockey W. Hicks be continued, and that pending the completion of the investigation Ed. Gaines (known as 'Bob') and F. Cash, valets for jockey W. Hicks, be denied a privileges."

PERSIMMON A GREAT SIRE

The statistics of the English racing season just ended reveal some figures of interest to horsemen the world over and shows it to be a year of exceptional activity. Of late the winning sire has been regarded with much more importance than the winning owner, and has annually been the subject of astute calculation. This year Persimmon carried off the palm with sixteen races, amounting to £23,821 and contributed by eight representatives. Sir Simon was a close second, nineteen gets of his winning forty-five races, worth in all £28,621. On Persimmon's list was Sceptre, who won four out of the five classic events and thereby placed the stallion on the top notch.

R. S. Sievier, owner of Sceptre, heads the list of owners with a total of £23,686 for seventy-one races. Of this sum £23,137 alone was won by Sceptre. Next to Sievier comes Col. Harry McCalmont, whose death was announced recently, with £18,114 total winnings; his colors appearing in 112 races, twenty of which he won. In third place is Sir John Maple, who has won more races on the turf than any man in England. His total winnings were £17,912, and his horses were successful in sixty-seven out of 305 contests. The amounts won by other leading turfmen were: A. James, £16,575; Duke of Portland, £14,305; John Gubbins, £14,109; Duke of Devonshire, £13,575; Sir James Miller, £10,965; Sir Walter Griffith, £10,634; Sir E. Vincent, £9,753; and the Earl of Derby, £8,524.

In the list of winning horses Sceptre is on top with the sum already mentioned, but had Rising Glass captured the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown, worth £9,675, Colonel McCalmont would have finished in the lead. As it was Rising Glass won £12,346 and made second place. Other cracks who won big amounts were: Cheers, £9,765; Velez, £8,682; Rabelais, £7,774; Rock Sand, £7,474; William the Third, £7,120; Fowlingpiece, £5,510; Ard Patrick, £5,455; St. Windeline, £5,382; Royal George, £4,125, and Flotsam, £3,201.

W. Waugh, trainer for Sir John Maple, is at the head of the most successful list of his class. W. Lane is the champion jockey with 170 winning mounts. Danny Maher is in third place with 106, and "Skeets" Martin fourth with eighty. Following is a table of the fourteen leaders and their mounts:

Jockeys.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Unp. Total.
W. Lane	170	135	106	396
W. Halsey	115	93	94	358

Winner—Blk. c, by St. George—Ada, by Kingfisher (trained by H. E. Rowell).
Went to post at 2:03. At post 1 minute. Start straggling. Won driving; second easily. Sol Lichtenstein beat the gate, but failed to make most of his advantage, had clear sailing and closed up fast at the end on the outside in good going and is improving. Estado, in the worst going and interfered with repeatedly, went around the field like a flash on the turn and seemed a sure winner when a furlong out, but was weakly ridden and swerving at the end. Belle Street displayed a good turn of early speed and is a good looker and should improve. Legal Maxim, away very badly, closed a big gap.
Scratched—36662 Father Wenker, 106; 36666 Discovery, 103.

Winner—Ch. f, by Golden Dawn—Salverine (trained by C. W. Carroll).
Went to post at 2:09. At post 1 minute. Start fair. Won driving; second the same. Salver broke flatfooted, but rushed into a long and winning lead on the far turn and although tiring at the end stood a long hard drive gamely. Quatre, vigorously ridden and lucky throughout, was wearing the winner down at the end. Dotterel closed much ground from a flatfooted start and ran an extra good race for her. Ripper had little chance with a diminutive jockey and was swerving badly in the last quarter.
Scratched—36653 Judge Voorhees, 112; 36665 Ed Lilburn, 112; (36431) Puss in Boots, 109; 36498 Dora Wier, 109; 36606 Escarola, 109; 36559 Almaric, 107; 36653 Sir Preston, 100.

Winner—Br. f, by Preston-pans—Mura (trained by C. Lind).
Went to post at 2:53. At post 1 minute. Start bad. Won easily; second the same. Muresca, away running, forced the pace throughout and, being skillfully ridden, scored a lucky victory. Azarine ran into a pocket on the backstretch and was roughly messed about. Glendenning was badly ridden and went hopelessly wide throughout, losing fifteen lengths on the turns. He was easily best today. Claudator, always prominent, held on well at the end. Idogo got a bad start, but lacked speed and ran a bad race. Nellie Hawthorne ran a fast quarter.

Winner—Ch. h, by Midlothian—Loleta (trained by W. B. Jennings).
Went to post at 3:22. At post 3 minutes. Start bad. Won easily; second driving. Dunblane beat the barrier and Burns made the most of the advantage, led well in hand, drew away decisively at the end and was best. Hill Massie, away badly, closed a big gap, challenged strongly in the stretch and ran in greatly improved form. Urchin was held at the post and got the worst of it, was rushed up on the winner's heels on the backstretch and compelled to pull up and poorly ridden generally. Resin, slow at the start, finished very fast and was jumping on the leaders' heels at the end, but hopelessly pocketed and is steadily improving. Torila, a nonstayer, retired early. Frank Woods was outrun from the start and ran a very bad race.

Winner—B. f, by Herald—Santa Rosa (trained by C. F. Fredrickson).
Went to post at 3:52. At post 3 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second easily. Ada N., fresh and good and given a lucky start, forced the pace throughout and outstayed Ned Dennis after a long stretch drive. The latter ran up to his best form and is very good, but was outclassed by the winner. Assessment made up a half dozen lengths in the last half after a rough, early journey and was closing up fast. Pat Morrissey failed to stay. Hesper essayed to outrun the winner and tired and quit badly. Aloha II. closed a big gap. Kickumbob secured a lucky start, had clear sailing and was well in hand to the stretch, where he was eased up. Throw out his race.
Scratched—36641 Harry Thatcher, 110.

Winner—Br. c, by Jim Gore—Briganza (trained by W. B. Jennings).
Went to post at 4:19. At post 1 minute. Start bad. Won easily; second the same. Byronerdale probably outclassed the field and a distinct advantage at the start enabled him to take a lead which he never relinquished, responding gamely when called upon in the last quarter. Warte Nicht was well handled, showed unexpected improvement and finished through the last quarter with a rush. The Major, hard held, waited on the winner's pace for six furlongs, but failed to come on when called on and evidently was not keyed up for a long race, but is a good colt. Escherin, away running, was a contender to the stretch, where Reed, sitting still, allowed her to swerve in behind the leaders.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

S. C. Hildreth is undecided as to whether or not he secured a bargain when he purchased J. W. Schorr's New Orleans stable for $12,000. "John Peters is worth all the rest of the string put together," said Mr. Hildreth Tuesday. "This son of Lord Esterling is a right shifty horse; in fact, there is no telling how good he really is. He has accomplished everything asked of him at New Orleans. When a horse concedes weight to clever fields and beats them in the decisive manner that this one has been doing there is good reason for believing that he is a performer above the average. I don't know what to make of Commissioner Forster. Some of his races have been creditable, but others were away below the standard. Perhaps a change of trainers might benefit him. Sarnier and Harry Wilson are useful selling platers, but neither of them is sound. Nicolette and Ravenspur are not worth feeding, and I will not keep this pair very long."

E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin has at last sold part of his great Santa Anita ranch for $500,000 to a land syndicate. Baldwin, who lost heavily by the burning of the Baldwin Hotel in San Francisco and who ultimately lost the valuable lot on which the hotel stood, has declared many times that he would never sell an acre of his 70,000-acre ranch, but he is evidently pinched for money. He lost on his venture to Nome two years ago and he has put several large mortgages on the ranch in the last few years. During the great boom in Southern California in 1885 Baldwin could have sold most of his ranch for $2,000 an acre, but he would not part with it. His latest scheme is to establish a big theater in Los Angeles.

M. N. Macfarlan, secretary of the New Memphis Jockey Club, will leave Memphis this week to mingle among horsemen in Kentucky, in the interest of the stakes which close January 3. Increased added money has been made in each prominent stake, except the Tennessee Derby, and this amount might have been increased, but horsemen in recent years have been slow to make nominations to this race.

It is said that W. C. Whitney has received a license to conduct a twenty days' race meeting at Aiken, S. C., in the early spring. The meeting will not be run for the public, but merely for the amusement of the colony of cottagers at that place who are fond of the sport and are, in some cases, directly interested in the running of big stables on eastern tracks.

Durnell & Herz made the wires hot between New Orleans and Lexington, Ky., Tuesday endeavoring to close a contract with jockey Lucien Lyne for the remainder of the New Orleans meeting. They offered Lyne a monthly retainer of $1,000 to go there at once and ride their horses. Lyne wants to spend Christmas with his parents. In order to enable him to gratify this desire Durnell & Herz offered to pay the expenses of Lyne's folks to New Orleans. This firm has been paying Buchanan a monthly retainer of $500. It was also betting from $100 to $500 on all the boy's mounts for him.

Sam Hildreth has a couple of two-year-olds at Memphis that have done little. Hildreth is going slow with them and evidently waiting for the coming of January before asking speed trials. He will add several youngsters to his collection and will start the next campaign with many two-year-olds. Last season Hildreth started off with none but three-year-olds or older and boasted of not having a single youngster.
